From the developer of Tekken and Monster Hunter comes a brand new fantasy action RPG. Here, YOU take control of your own character and are able to freely improve and grow your character. • RISE: Train to master your power After a month of training, you can begin your adventure with whatever character you want. • TURN: Battle against the enemy as you adapt to the environment Once you gain access to the battlefield, you can choose a specific class. Depending on the class, you can learn new skills and be able to fight better in battle against various monsters. You can choose from among 7 classes at launch and be able to explore and experiment with them. • GROW: Make your own path Your character's growth is not limited to your attributes but also includes your special skills and weapons. Through the process of repeating actions and fighting monsters, you character will grow continuously. • PLAY: Open the world and get into a fight A vast world where open fields with a variety of situations and huge dungeons with complex and three-dimensional designs are seamlessly connected. As you explore, the joy of discovering unknown and overwhelming threats await you, leading to a high sense of accomplishment. • AUSTERITY: Eudaimonia (well-being) is coming... Starting from October 24th 2017, we will be launching the beta test for the game. In the beta test, we will be adjusting the game to the early access version. ▲ The lovely illustrations included in the screenshots were drawn by the original creator of the game series. Exclusive Items Original Characters in the story and illustrated in the game (Not available in beta) High-Quality Minigames What's more...? It is possible to create your own character and level by upgrading the equipment that you find through your quest in the Lands Between. It's possible to upgrade your gear, and the enemies themselves will be displayed in the game. We are trying our best to create a game where you can bring out your inner strength to the fullest. 1010 to this claim. Moreover, given that our analysis is not focused on this portion of plaintiff's claim, we need not at this juncture decide whether Hawes' failure to file a rule 10b-5 claim in the Securities and Exchange Commission (S.E.C.) was justified. [4] Gullo also sought to amend his complaint to add claims pursuant to the New Jersey Racketeering Act and the New Jersey Consumer Fraud Act. The request for leave to amend was denied as futile, since the Racketeer Influence and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO) and the New Jersey Consumer Fraud Act each require proof of fraud or deception. See Savino v. City of New York, 331 F.3d 63, 71 n. 5 (2d Cir.2003) (federal RICO); Wood, 200 F.R.D. at 179 (state RICO). [5] Hawes also contends that the District Court abused its discretion in denying her request for leave to amend. In light of our disposition of this appeal, we need not address this argument. [6] Gullo and Hawes are represented by different counsel on this appeal. [7] In the ordinary course, our review on appeal of a district court's grant of summary judgment would be de novo. See, e.g., Rodriguez v. City of New York, 72 F.3d 1051, 1053 (2d Cir.1995). However, Hawes' argument here is not based on any conflicting factual issue, so we deem her appeal to be a challenge to the District Court's discretion. [8] Although Hawes' complaint claimed that Gullo had violated section 409, section 410 states that a claim based on an alleged violation of section 408 may be brought only in federal court. [9] In fact, section 410 was later amended to permit a private right of action under section 408. See H.R. REP. NO. 85, 73rd Cong., 1st Sess. 18 (1933). [10] The provisions of section 10(b) and rule 10b-5 are incorporated into section 12, see section 18, and are interpreted similarly. See section 18(a). [11] "Net capital" is the amount of the insurer's surplus, or net assets (which includes its goodwill and other intangible assets), excluding
