"Time Drifts Through the Moonlit Night" will be included in the package when the game is released and will be accessible after Chapter 2 of the main story is completed. What's new? The Shikigami is believed to be the one responsible for the havoc wreaked on the city of Eurulm, and she's no longer working with the Dragon Clan. Aluche will play a vital role in this side story, so there's even more reason to keep playing Nights of Azure. How about some new stories and costumes to dress up in? We're glad you asked. - VN users can now choose to visit the "Changing Room" to be able to change the costumes they have unlocked. - A new outfit for Aluche is also included. *Certain characters will be excluded from this story. Back to Table of Contents "Returning" to the Human World Shikigami, the head of the Dragon Clan has, as you may have guessed, returned to the human world. However, she's doing so under the pretense that she's "retired". Those who were on the investigation team that went looking for her haven't taken her return in the least bit seriously. In the human world, the only one that knows about Shikigami's return is... the one that returned her to the human world. Aluche and her friends also know, but they haven't said a thing to anyone. The only one that they've informed about Shikigami's return was Meepo, but unfortunately, Meepo's not in their party. He's heading to the human world on his own to join his companion, Apsara. But right now, Aluche's task is to lure Shikigami into returning to the human world. - You have to try and get close to Shikigami and help her return, but it's also possible that she'll be returned to the human world by her fellow adventurers if they're still alive. Back to Table of Contents "A Time for New Seeds" The Moonbats' cry-out reaches all the way to the shore, a panicked ship full of kidnapped people is approaching. As they are about to be run into, a small vessel flies down from above and narrowly escapes them. These people are from the human world and are heading

What's new in RPG Maker VX Ace:

CD1 of 2 PLUTO JUN-RIN My traveling companion was a pint-sized girl named Erika. Her father was a famous flower-collector, and they had traveled all around the world together. From Japan to Kazakhstan and from the green meadows of Belgium to the red desert of Las Vegas, they tried to find the flower that everyone was obsessed with. Erika the Flower Girl Or: Erika of the Lamianidea They were at a coffee shop near the Las Vegas strip when the call came in on the radio. Something was wrong on the school. Something was wrong with Erika. Erika was sweet and adventurous but there was one thing she never left behind - a voice in her head. It was the ghost of Glinda the Good Witch of the South (a la Wicked). She whispered into Erika's ear, "You don't belong on Earth. You don't belong here. It's just not nice there. The other humans - they're petty and unsightly. Glinda found you pretty and so she'll keep it. It's a good thing too, because you'll be a very superior being in the afterlife." One of the guys in the band they were playing with started to freak out because this was one of the few times in his life that he believed in the supernatural. "There's only one thing for it..." he said. "Let's get out of here. Glinda has our number. 'Cause we were about to break out onstage any second now!" Out in the parking lot, the guy who plays keyboards in the band picked up a large box wrapped with mysterious purple paper and an even larger box and started throwing it at the nearest dumpster. "Ready?" he said, waiting for the boxes to collide. He was the only American among the group. "Oh, I'm ready to try anything to get away from this place!" The other guys in the band picked up the boxes and played with them. It was a game they played everytime they got to Las Vegas, and sometimes they played with wheeled things - carts or dollies that pretended to be something different and pretend to Colliders (Puzzles) Using the correct energy source will allow you to pass through obstacles, and shape your way through the world.
